Advisory Board

The CFS Advisory Board provides expertise to strategically guide the mission and direction of the Center. In addition, the Advisory Board offers guidance to the Director on speakers, topics, and sponsors for conferences, events, and panel discussions. They assist with expanding the network of participants and building the CFS stature and brand. The Advisory Board serves as a key resource for activities encompassing continuing education, student engagement, and networking.

The Center for Financial Services (CFS) seeks to promote a collaborative exchange of ideas on critical issues affecting the financial services by bridging theory and practice.

By leveraging Lehigh’s faculty and alumni, the CFS aims to bring the latest developments in research and practice together to stimulate discussion and generate new ideas for education and knowledge in the field of financial services. The Center hosts speakers and conferences to bring together alumni, industry participants, academics, and regulators on topics of interest. In addition, the CFS topics features academic research on topics that are relevant to practitioners, regulators, and industry leaders.

In support of this mission, the CFS oversees the Financial Services Laboratory (FSL), which serves as the vehicle for understanding, creating, and employing financial data and software on the Lehigh University campus.

Director
Kathleen Weiss Hanley joined Lehigh University’s College of Business and Economics (CBE) faculty in 2015 as the Bolton-Perella Endowed Chair in Finance and as the Director of the CFS. Before coming to Lehigh, Hanley was the Deputy Chief Economist of the SEC and the Deputy Director of the Division of Economic and Risk Analysis, where she oversaw the integration of economic analysis into policy. She also managed the Division’s research activities, data analytics, and risk assessment initiatives.

Prior to that time, she was a Senior Economist at the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in the Risk Analysis section and a Senior Financial Economist at the SEC. She has been on the faculty at the University of Maryland and at the University of Michigan.

Hanley’s research focuses on capital formation, systemic risk and market pricing and has been published in leading finance journals including The Journal of Finance, Journal of Financial Economics, and The Review of Financial Studies. She received her bachelor’s degree from Indiana University and her Ph.D. from the University of Florida.

Assistant Director
Meg Foley Wolf joined the CFS in February 2017. Wolf’s background is in development, sales, marketing and non-profit. She joined her alma mater in 2008, where she has served in several key roles in Lehigh University’s Development and Alumni Relations department including Associate Director of Marketing, Director of Reunion Giving, and CBE Major Gift Officer. Wolf has been an integral part of the development of the Center and is responsible for attracting the very talented CFS Board. She assists with CFS events, memberships, marketing, and advancing the mission and goals of the Center. Wolf has dual degrees from Lehigh in Journalism and Marketing.
